

LANGAN TAKES THE LEAD AT NGWA

Langan will be well represented at this year's National Ground Water Association's (NGWA) Conference on Groundwater in Fractured Rock, held September 28-29 in Burlington, Vermont. Hydrogeologists and remediation engineers from three Langan offices will give platform presentations on innovative techniques and practical lessons-learned with respect to characterizing and remediating groundwater in fractured rock environments.

Bob Bond, PG

Characterizing Flow and Contaminant Transport Properties and Role of Borehole Geophysics in Fractured Rock Characterization

Kevin Kelly, PG

High-Resolution Fracture Network Delineation for In Situ Bioremediation Using Fluorescent Tracer Dyes

Eric Dieck

Improving the Design of In-Situ Bioremediation in Fractured Bedrock through 3D Visualization

Omer Uppal

An Integrated Hydraulic Fracturing and Push-Pull ISCO Implementation for Crystalline Bedrock Aquifer

Terrance Stanley, PG

Well Shut-Down Tests for a Sedimentary Bedrock Aquifer in Northeast New Jersey

View the complete schedule here!